Granny’s Day Out

Debashish Majumdar

Illustrations
Ramakar Singh
Granny's Day Out
Debashish Majumdar
Illustrations
Ratnakar Singh

NATIONAL BOOK TRUST, INDIA
Dad speeds to office, mom drives her car little Jojo rides his school bus, a rising star.
Granny wakes up to make her day
for once, she decides to have her way!
She starts with a jig
... and loses her wig.
She slips on a salwar for a dress
of her wardrobe she makes a mess!
She picks up the broom . . . out jumps a rat!

Oh, can you find Rani the sleepy cat?
Granny decides to have great fun. She darts off under the sun.
She hurried to catch the tram, she tripped over a nasty ram!
She reaches Jojo’s school slips into the swimming pool.
Stout Mr Kutty dives in a swish
Jojo’s Granny swims like a fish!
The school children loudly cheer
Granny pretends not to hear.
She enters a one-stop store
bangs her head upon the door.
She reaches out for a pretty doll
one leg rising to kick a ball.

 Warns Mr Singh over six feet tall
Granny does not heed his call.
To add more fun she dares to run.

She runs a race with all her pace falling flat upon her face!
When she reaches the park, it is rather dark
Granny is hungry as a shark.
She slumps upon a bench
a girl talks to her in French.
She shares her jam and toast only to greet a scary ghost!
Little stars shine in the sky
Granny lets out a tired sigh!
Opening the gate to her lawn
oh... hear her big loud yawn!
She tosses her chappals, slips into a night-gown puts back on her face, the same old frown.
To Jojo a story she read
Granny takes teddy to bed.

Smiles the yellow moon will Granny go out again soon?