

VISUALLY ARRESTING From The Winter's Tale, King Lear and Twelfth Night Photos: M. KARUNAKARAN

---

THEATRE

With their colour, gaiety and Bollywood touches, the three plays presented by Prakriti Foundation as part of its Hamara Shakespeare festival had a distinct Indian connect

---

The Bard with a deswtiz

---

MEET Science-innovator Arvind Gupta who has made Science exciting to millions of children across the world through his toys from trash

---

The toymaker and his dream

---

Twelfth Night

Chrissie so well done. I like the idea of a theatre

---

The Winter’s Tale

It is a tale of jealousy, guilt, confusion, love and marriage.

---

The Winter’s Tale

Continued from page 1

A unique touch here was that theatre students of the school presented the play in the form of a vaudeville act in a satirical manner and that came seamlessly together in the evening of glorious fun and entertainment. The costumes were colourfully Indian and the musicians played with zest in this evening of sheer entertainment where comedy ruled.

---

The Winter’s Tale

The acting, the setting and the in-troupes, presented it for this festival, it is a tale of jealousy, guilt, confusion, love and marriage.

---

El Algin

It has been ten years since Arvind Gupta who was awarded the Padma Shri by the President of India, the Padma Shri for Science and Culture, the world’s largest science prize, work on the toy-making truck.

---

The Winter’s Tale

As he or she stumbled around.

---

The Winter’s Tale

A unique touch here was that theatre students of the school presented the play in the form of a vaudeville act in a satirical manner and that came seamlessly together in the evening of glorious fun and entertainment. The costumes were colourfully Indian and the musicians played with zest in this evening of sheer entertainment where comedy ruled.

---

The Winter’s Tale

If music be the food of love, play on.