The Body
If I said to you,
"Do you know you?"
You would, I am sure, say,
"Of course."
I bet that you do not know all of you.
Can you spot an elbow...
...a knuckle and a knee?
An elbow, a knuckle, and a knee
you did not know.
Never have you drawn it so.
Now take a piece of plasticine or dough and mould it to your elbow, your finger, or your biggest toe.
Take others' thumbs and match your own and see that each is to his own. Print a hand and a foot too.
The order is wrong
but can you see
the bits that belong to you or me?
Find an eyelash, an earlobe, ribs, a heel, a nail and a tooth...
...a jaw, a pit, a palm
...a sole, a calf, a moon.
I like the words, do you?
I like the sound of knee-cap.
It rhymes with zap, wrap, trap, sap, lap, tap and map.
I like nostril too.
It almost goes with pill,
mill, drill or sill.
Then there is fist which is like twist, list, mist and kissed.
Your body moves this way and that. Some bits go up (forearm), and others only down (hair), some twitch (nose), some go round (eye-balls), and one can simply never stop (tongue).
So now you know a little more about your body. Ask someone to trace around you with some chalk upon the floor. Fill in the bits and pieces that you know.
TREES
This first title in THE WORLD of NATURE series provides an ideal introduction to the child's understanding of the many aspects of trees.

Fun with Shapes
Conceived in the form of a puzzle, this enjoyable book will considerably sharpen the pre-school child's faculty of observation and creative thinking.

Rhymes to Remember
This is a book which any child would treasure. Lively illustrations cover the pages of these original and amusing rhymes.

Kalu and Bhoosa
A delightful story of the ups and downs in the friendship between a camel and a fox. Illustrated by children.

My First Number Book
This number primer provides a solid introduction to the child's comprehension of number, with plenty of writing and colouring.

ABC Parade
A laugh-and-learn ABC book. It helps the child pick up the alphabet by remembering the shape of each letter.

Pamela Reynolds
Illustrated by Siddharta Sen

Rs 2.
© Vikas Publishing House Pvt Ltd
5 Ansari Road, New Delhi 110002
Savoy Chambers, 5 Wallace Street,
Bombay 400001
10 First Main Road, Gandhi Nagar,
Bangalore 560009
8/1-B Chowringhee Lane,
Calcutta 700016
80 Canning Road, Kanpur 208004
Printed at Karan Printers, New Delhi.