Three Little Girls
Three Little Girls

Story by Huang Yibo
Illustrations by Zhu Xinjian

Dolphin Books  Beijing
It is Jinjin’s birthday. Her aunt gives her a doll as a birthday present.
Jinjin shows the doll to Lanlan.
“Look,” she says, “her eyes move.”
When Fangfang presses the doll’s belly, she cries.
“Let’s all play with her,” says Lanlan.
Holding the doll in her arms, Jinjin won’t let Fangfang or Lanlan play with the doll.
Lanlan wants a doll with eyes that move too.
Lanlan asks her mother to buy her one. “But you’ve got so many toys,” says her mother.
Lanlan wants to swap her truck for Jinjin’s doll.
But Jinjin doesn’t like the idea.
“Let’s play with the truck,” says Fangfang to Lanlan.
Jinjin goes home with her doll.
Jinjin closes the door and puts the doll to bed.
“Let’s go and see if the doll wants a ride in our truck,” Lanlan says to Fangfang.
They go to Jinjin’s home. But she won’t open the door for them.
They have to go away.
The doll is so upset about what Jinjin has done that she closes her eyes and ignores her.
Jinjin realizes that she has done wrong, so she takes the doll and goes to play with Fangfang and Lanlan.
Happily they play together. The doll begins to move her eyes again and seems very pleased.
The First Seven PRESCHOOL BOOKS:

1. Little Elephant Goes Home
2. The Rabbit on the Handkerchief
3. Big Brother and Little Brother
4. Dongdong and His Kitten
5. Three Little Girls
6. The Story of Lingling
7. Little Careful and Little Scatterbrain