Meena and Bela went to the same school. They were friends and their families liked visiting each other. But this time, Bela’s parents had brought upsetting news to Meena’s house.
Bela’s parents had decided to take her out of school.

I have told Bela to stop going to school from tomorrow.

Oh no!
Bela’s parents were worried for her safety. She was growing up and the walk to school was long and lonely.

Bela is a big girl now. It is not safe for her to go alone anymore.
Meena and Bela were both very upset. Meena knew how important it is for girls to continue school.
Meena’s family also knew the importance of educating girls. They saw how much Meena had learnt by going to school.

Meena writes all our letters…

She keeps track of our savings…

And she reads stories to us!
Suddenly, Meena had a wonderful idea. It would allow Bela to continue her studies and also keep her safe!

Uncle, my friends and I can come to your house every morning.

Yes! We can go to school together!
The grown ups liked Meena’s idea. This idea could help other girls too!

Yes...If necessary, some of us can take it in turns to walk with the children.

It is always safer in a group!
Now the girls waited for Bela's father to give his decision.

Please… father …
I really want to stay in school!
Bela’s father smiled and held open his arms.

Okay Bela. You can stay in school!

Oh thank you, thank you!
Now Bela and her parents are both happy! Bela still goes to school, but safely – in a group!
Here are two ways of making it safe for girls to go to school. Can you think of any other ways?

Walking to school in a group. Having an adult accompany girls to school.
All girls should be in school.
